The Bank of Things is now open!

A new service-based on the principles of a food bank and aimed at helping young people take an active role in their education has now opened its doors.

What does the Bank of Things do?

The Bank of Things is a new Young Mayors Project working in partnership with Lewisham Local aimed at Young People aged 11 to 25 living in Lewisham. Former Young Mayors have used their budgets to develop the Bank of Things to address the issue of poverty and lack of resources for young people in the borough. They supply everyday necessities to any young person facing hardship living in Lewisham.

Why?

1 in 5 of the UK population live below the poverty line and London has the highest rate of child poverty of any English region.

The service is run from Unit 19 in Lewisham Shopping centre and open every Monday and Wednesday 3 to 6pm during Term Time, young people will be able to drop in and pick up some of the everyday items they need to participate fully in their lives. Items include toiletries, sanitary products and some school equipment.

If you are struggling to afford everyday essentials such as personal care products or school supplies, you can go and collect what you need from Unit 19. Items include deodorant, face wash, shampoo, conditioner, hand soap, toothpaste, toothbrush and sanitary products as well as a selection of stationary, maths sets and scientific calculators.

Rights Respecting at Brindishe Schools – Article of the week

Article 27 (adequate standard of living)

Every child has the right to a standard of living that is good enough to meet their physical and social needs and support their development. Governments must help families who cannot afford to provide this.

Article 24 (health and health services)

Every child has the right to the best possible health. Governments must provide good quality health care, clean water, nutritious food, and a clean environment and education on health and well-being so that children can stay healthy. Richer countries must help poorer countries achieve this.

This week we recognised World Water Day

We all know that water is vital for everyone in their daily lives across the world, and back in 2015 the world committed to working together to make sure that everyone has access to safe, clean water and good sanitation. This was Sustainable Development Goal 6.

But there is still much work to be done with over 2 billion people drinking unsafe water. An important aim of World Water Day is to inspire everyone to take action and make the necessary changes so that the right to clean water can be achieved by 2030 for everyone.

Why do you think that the right to clean water is such an important right?

- Our bodies are made up of over 60% water and we need clean water to keep them working properly and to stay alive.
- Drinking dirty, unsafe water can cause serious illnesses.
- In some communities, children miss out on their education because they must spend time collecting water.
- We need water for washing ourselves and for keeping our clothes and homes clean.
- A good water supply is important for good sanitation and flushing our toilets.
- Not having access to clean water makes it harder to be healthy and have a decent standard of living.
- Water and wetlands provide important habitats for plants and animals.
- Pollution of our oceans, rivers and waterways can have a serious impact on all living things.
- Water is important to generate power in some places and it is a better for the environment than burning fossil fuels.

UNICEF works in lots of countries to make sure that children have access to clean water.

Watch Stephen's story and discuss with your child at home what difference it makes for children when they have safe water taps and clean water.
